Location.

LaGrange is located seventy-one miles south-west of Atlanta, on the Atlanta and West Point Railroad. There are some facts connected with this location that we think should be considered. Many Southern girls have been sent so far North to be educated, that their constitutions have been completely broken down by the severity of the climate, and they have returned home confirmed invalids, subject to attacks of acute rheumatism, etc. Others have gone so far South as to fall into the malarial regions, and their health has been undermined by chills and fever. We are located above the Pine mountain range upon a high, rolling country, and are not liable to suffer from either of these dangers. LaGrange has been recognized as an educational centre for many years. It is true, her schools were destroyed by fire, and the country devastated by war; but we rejoice to know that she is fast regaining her former proud position in this respect.

This Institution graduated its first class in 1846, and since that time has sent forth hundreds from its classic walls to mould and bless society.

Location of College.

The College is located on a high eminence overlooking the beautiful city of LaGrange and the surrounding country; remote from the stir of the city, and yet sufficiently near to church and the conveniences of business.

The Buildings.

One of the buildings is of brick, the other of brick and stone, both with tin roofs. The main building is 60x120 feet, two stories high. In it there are four recitation rooms 25x50 feet, separated by wide halls crossing each other in the centre, thereby affording free circulation of air and perfect ventilation. On the second floor there is a magnificent chapel 60x100 feet with capacity to hold 1500 persons. Back of the stage are four music rooms, and one for the ornamental department, the Iranian hall, library and reading rooms, making altogether one of the most capacious and well arranged buildings for school purposes in the South. The Boarding-House is fifty by ninety feet, two stories high, with rooms eighteen feet square, all opening into wide halls, thereby giving easy egress in case of accident. This department is under the immediate supervision of the President and his lady.

Scholastic Year.

The Fall Term will open third Wednesday in August, and close the Friday before Christmas. The Spring Term will open second Wednesday in January, and close second Wednesday in June, which will be Commencement Day.

To the Patrons and Public.

While we do not claim to have the best school in the South, yet we think we can offer advantages inferior to no institution of similar grade, and superior to many. A large amount of money has already been expended on the buildings and grounds, and the Board of Trustees are determined to continue until everything is completed.

The LaGrange Female College is the property in fee-simple of the North Georgia Conference, and is, in fact, the only female college owned by that body; we therefore have the first claim upon the Methodists of this section. The daughters of all regular ministers are received in the Literary Department free of charge.

We hope parents and guardians will read carefully the following suggestions upon punctuality: No pupil can be properly educated who does not attend school regularly. It demoralizes classes and retards the progress of good scholars, to have indifferent pupils coming in after the lesson has been partly recited. Much time which should be used in advancing the class is consumed by the teacher in repeating what has already been gone over, to those who might have been present at the proper time. Parents and teachers must be co-workers in training the young: it is your duty to see that your children are provided with all the books necessary to prosecute their studies—that they are at school regularly and in time; it is ours to see that their time is profitably employed while in school. We do not desire the patronage of any who cannot control their children in this respect, for we feel that such pupils are more trouble than profit. In the next place, we earnestly request parents not to interfere with the government of the school by requesting us to allow their daughters privileges which are forbidden by our rule. If you have confidence enough to entrust your daughters to our care, please allow us to govern them, and when you become satisfied that your confidence has been misplaced, it is your right, nay more, your duty to withdraw them.

Government.

Combined with moral and religious influence, a system of merit and demerit will be maintained and enforced in the government of each student. Our discipline will be mild, but strict and impartial.

All pupils are required to be in their places punctually at the ringing of the bell. Absence and tardiness will not be allowed without a good excuse. Whenever a pupil shall absent herself she will not be allowed to go on with her class until she makes up the lessons lost during that absence. Pupils leaving school before the close of the session will be required, on the opening of the next, to make up the lessons lost, or be placed in the next lower class. Pupils will not be allowed to leave the school for the purpose of attending to anything else, nor leave the College yard during recess without permission. No pupil who repeatedly disregards the rules will be allowed to remain in the school.

Scholarship and Honors.

Circulars will be sent to patrons at the middle and close of each term, showing the grade of scholarship, deportment, attendance etc., of each pupil. The grade runs from one to ten, ten being the maximum. No pupil can rise to a higher class whose average grade falls below five at the end of the year. The pupil in the Senior Class securing the highest average throughout the entire course will receive the first Honor and be entitled to the Valedictory; the pupil securing the second highest average will receive the second Honor and be entitled to the Salutatory.

Music Department.

That our patrons may appreciate the advantages in this department, we beg to quote from the catalogue of the Southern Female College, an institution of high grade and extended reputation, in which Prof. Schirmacher has been engaged for the last seven years as follows:

"MUSIC DEPARTMENT.—The facilities here furnished for a thorough musical education are of the highest order. Prof. SCHIRMACHER, the excellent principal of this department, is a graduate of the Musical Conservatory of Leipzig, Germany, and was for years a pupil of the great masters Mendelssohn, David, Richter, Piaidy and Boehme. A modest worth, for splendid attainments in music, for patient, untiring energy, he is so superior, and his success during his five years' connection with the college is without a parallel in this country. The only two 'Premiums for best performance on piano-forte by pupils of any Female College,' at the State Fair in Atlanta in 1870, were awarded to pupils of this college, trained by Prof. Schirmacher. The 'Premium for the best display of musical talent by pupils of any Female College,' and 'for best performer,' were awarded his pupils at the State Fair of 1872."—Catalogue for 1874, page 13.

Calisthenics.

"A sound mind in a sound body," is an old maxim, none the less desirable on account of age. To secure this we have a most accomplished teacher in this department, who gives daily instruction in the use of the weights, rings and dumb bells, free of charge. The muscular development of her pupils has been most gratifying to their parents. Many who have been sent to us almost deformed by careless carriage, &c., have by constant drilling been made erect, and their muscular power so developed as to give them a power of endurance almost wonderful. These exercises are all conducted by music, the time must therefore be perfect, giving the additional advantage of training in time.

Literary Society.

The Irenian Society is accomplishing much in the College. Usually no societies exist in institutions of this class to encourage rivalry, but unfortunately this rivalry, particularly among girls, generates bitterness, which we hope to avoid by having but one. The Society meets Friday afternoon, and the exercises consist of readings, perusals, recitations, essays &c., in which all take part. The young ladies have commenced to collect a Library and are much gratified at their success so far. Any contributions of books or money will be thankfully received.

Department of Fine Arts.

Miss Lucy Carpenter, the teacher in this department, is one of the most successful in the State. She has never failed to take the highest premiums in State and County Fairs, when her specimens were exhibited. Every young lady should learn one or more of these beautiful arts; she may amuse herself, manufacture her own ornaments, or, if necessary, should require, make articles of value, and thereby screen herself from more menial labor.

Dress.

No uniform dress will be required. Neatness and economy in dress will be taught as an essential element of a good education.

Debts.

No pupil will be allowed, under any circumstances, to contract any debts, except by permission of the President.

Terms and Rates.

The year is divided into two terms of four-and-a-half and five-and-a-half scholastic months. Owing to the stringency of the times, we have reduced our charges to ante-bellum rates as follows:
